

APRIL GENERAL MEETING 2016

Mariam Babayan, Outreach Coordinator, CAMFT

By Ellyn Goldstein, LMFT

Mariam Babayan, Esq., addressed the April General Meeting by giving us an update on the state of the MFT profession, including a state and federal legislative update, and an update on BBS regulatory issues. Mariam is the Outreach Coordinator for State CAMFT. As such, she functions as a liaison between State CAMFT and the 28 active CAMFT chapters, as providing outreach to the graduate.

State legislation update:

AB250: This bill fixes a disparity between two existing laws that address the provision of Telehealth trainees by MFT Trainees. This law assures that trainees can provide Telehealth services, and went into effect Jan., 2016.s

AB858: CAMFT introduced this bill to allow LMFTs to work in Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), which are mental health centers that provide mental health care services to people in acute need. They are more predominant in rural areas. The bill was supported by multiple professional organizations, except for NASW. Although it passed in both the Assembly and the Senate, it was vetoed by the governor because of funding issues. It has been reintroduced as AB1863, and CAMFT expects fiscal opposition to decline.

What Therapists Need to Know

About Our Aging Clients

By Carolyn Kopp, MS, Gerontologist

Aging and its impacts on clients and the challenges which prompt them to seek professional help was the focus of the May 13 meeting. Gerontologist Carolyn Kopp, MS, the Ventura County family consultant for Coast Caregiver Resource Center, presented information about the basics of aging and its impacts on people, which can color relationships, accomplishments, and ability to manage lives.

With aging having biological, psychological and social components, there is significance for both physical and cognitive aspects of our lives. Views of aging are most often positive for youth and young adults as they look forward

From the President's Sofa

By Audrey Slaugh, LMFT

Well, it's true, another summer is upon us! It is still challenging for me to think that summer does not exist all year long in California. You see, for those of you who do not know, I am originally from Pennsylvania where you truly do experience four very distinct seasons. Regardless of the weather, supporting clients as they navigate through the seasons of their lives is a very rewarding experience for those choosing to be in our profession. We have the honor of witnessing change, growth, and movement in lives that initially come through our doors holding pain, despair, and defeat. So as you navigate your summer sessions, family vacations, or a well-deserved break, honor yourself for the role you hold as a Mental Health Professional in our community... and enjoy the season! Looking ahead we have our annual

Pre-Licensed Forum Saturday July 9, 2016. If you have not yet attended one of our Forums please consider joining us as we welcome several agencies and introduce them to up and coming Trainees and Interns looking for locations to begin their journey in becoming licensed. Our meeting Friday, August 12th will feature Julie Frumin, LMFT, who will help clinicians examine their own thoughts and beliefs about gender roles, and gender identification through her presentation Gender Consciousness for the Clinician. We will discuss stereotypes, gender expectations, what we can do as clinicians to support equal parenting and the concept of gender fluidity as well as the development of gender. I look forward to seeing you soon! ☺

From the Editor's Desk

By Andrew Smith, MFT Intern

I am looking forward to being on the Broad this year by serving in the newsletter editor position. I have received a very nice welcome from the broad members and am looking forward to learning all the ins and outs of the newsletter from Veronica. I hope to keep up the high standard set by her. If you have any suggestions or information for future newsletters I can be reached by email at smith27@gmail.com.

Thanks. ☺

COMMUNICATOR EDITORIAL POLICY

The Ventura County Communicator is a bimonthly publication (newsletter) of the Ventura County Chapter of CAMFT. Its purpose is to inform members of items of interest to Marriage and Family Therapists in the Ventura County Chapter. This includes, but is not limited to: Chapter Meetings, news about members' involvement in county- and state-wide programs, pre-licensed members' issues, continuing education, and local resources. Articles on topics of interest to the readership may be published on a space-available basis at the discretion of the editor. Articles and news published in The Communicator may be reprinted in other chapters' newsletters, and your submission of material hereby includes your permission to do so. The Communicator is not a professional journal, so articles should be in line with the newsletter format, rather than academic in nature. ## APRIL GENERAL MEETING 2016

Mariam Babayan, Outreach Coordinator, CAMFT

CAMFT is working with various organizations to address an issue related to reimbursement for Telehealth services. Third party payors are required by law to cover these services, but many insurance companies have been denying reimbursement. To resolve this situation, CAMFT needs documentation from therapists being affected by this. If you are an LMFT in this situation, please contact CAMFT at (858-292-2638).

Federal legislation update:

HR2759 (Medicare bill): CAMFT has been working on allowing MFTs to be Medi-Care providers for 14 years. Although there isn't a lot of congressional opposition, there are fiscal issues. The government assumes there will be more people accessing the services so it will cost more, but CAMFT sees it as long term preventative care, which will save money in the long run. CBO estimated a $2 million increase over five years to have LMFTs as Medi-Care providers. CAMFT & AAMFT did a study to assess the cost, and found these numbers to be inaccurate. CAMFT's goal for this year was to raise awareness, as it was unlikely to pass in an election year. CAMFT conducted a grassroots campaign for members to solicit support from their congressional representatives. This year they took a delegation of CAMFT members, in addition to Board member, to Washington. The delegation included our own Denise Butler-Foley, who reported that the delegation was pretty much 'preaching to the choir'. CAMFT is looking at several existing bills that they may use as companion legislation. Each year we get more co-sponsors. The goal is to increase awareness in order to increase co-sponsors. The goal is to have 20 co-sponsors, and we currently have 16.

HR2639 (Veteran's Administration bill):

This bill eliminates the requirement that LMFTs working for the Veteran's Administration be graduates of a COAMFTE-accredited program. COAMFTE is a national accreditation, and most California schools are regionally accredited. Over 95% of California LMFTs are ineligible to work for the VA because of this requirement. AAMFT originally supported this, but has now shifted focus to get more schools to be COAMFTE accredited.

CAMFT is concerned about some legislation being ruled on by the Texas Supreme Court. The Texas Medical Association filed a lawsuit against the Texas MFT Licensing Board over two regulations. One allows MFTs to provide mental health services. The other regulation allows MFTs the ability to diagnose using the DSM. The second regulation was struck down, which meant that MFTs in Texas could no longer issue DSM diagnoses. CAMFT intervened in the lawsuit, filing a friend of the court brief to prohibit the elimination of these regulations. In allowing MFTs to provide mental health services, but striking down the regulation allowing them to make diagnoses, LMFTs would have to refer to a primary care physician for diagnosis, then the physician would refer the patient back to the LMFT for mental health services. This could set a dangerous precedent for the rest of the country. Texas has 3,000 LMFTs, but they have the second highest number of LMFTs in the country after California.

BBS update:

The new exam restructuring took effect Jan. 1, 2016. The licensure exam requirements now consist of a law and ethics exam and the new clinical exam. The BBS has posted FAQs on their website, and CAMFT has a webinar on the new requirements.

Supervision: The BBS has a supervision committee, which revamped the hours of experience requirements, and replaces the old 'buckets' with more streamlined requirements (see the CAMFT web site for more details on the new hours of experience requirements). The new system eliminates personal psychotherapy hours because other mental health professional licensures and many out of state MFT licensing boards don't allow it. CAMFT opposes the elimination of personal psychotherapy hours.

These changes also address the make-up of supervisory hours. First, the BBS is considering 'triadic supervision', which allows two interns per one supervisor for the individual supervision requirement. Secondly, a new fifteen-hour supervision course for new supervisors (or previous supervisors who have not supervised for two of the last five years). The current six hour supervision course every two years is still in force. CAMFT encourages supervisors to attend these BBS committee meetings.

General CAMFT update:

CAMFT is now an approval entity for CE providers. VC CAMFT has been approved to provide CEs under CAMFT. The BBS wants to change the term MFT Intern to MFT Associate. This is intended to elevate their status. CAMFT does not oppose this.

CAMFT is working on allowing extra exam time for learning disabled or non-English speakers.

An increase in CAMFT membership dues went into effect in April, 2016. This will fund the CAMFT investment in public relations, outreach and marketing. ☺

Lobbying in D.C.

By Denise Butler-Foley, LMFT

At the end of March 2016, I had the privilege of being a part of a 15 member contingent from CAMFT to lobby in D.C. for the inclusiveness of LMFTs in Medicare and the VA. There were 12 other colleagues who either were previous CAMFT Board Members or seasoned Chapter Board Members along with Jill Epstein, JD Executive Director and Cathy Adkins, JD Deputy Executive Director. We met up with CAMFT's lobbyist, David Connolly, JD early on a Monday morning to get basic training and discuss the schedule. We were divided up into 3 groups with Jill, Cathy or David each heading a group. In two days we met with the senior staff of 23 US Representatives and 2 Senators, all from California.

I learned many interesting facts:

- This was the 15th year that CAMFT has lobbied for Federal recognition. In fact, with mental health being a hot topic, there is no opposition. The House passed bills for Federal recognition 2 times and the Senate also passed bills 2 times. However the same bill needs to be passed in the same year by both the House and the Senate for the bill to go to the President's desk.
- Our talking points for Medicare were: Currently, there is a lack of mental health providers in many parts of the country, particularly in rural areas. Patients lose continuity of care with their existing LMFT when they turn 65. Often times, Medicare beneficiaries will turn to emergency rooms for care of mental health issues. From 2006-2011, emergency room visits in California for mental health have increased at 8% a year, compared to physical health at 3%. Many of these in-patient visits could have been addressed by LMFTs, saving Medicare a significant amount of money and providing the care actually needed. LMFTs have equal education, training and testing qualifications as clinical social workers, who are Medicare providers. In 2015, Rep. Chris Gibson introduced - Our talking points for the VA were: The VA, in implementing the law passed by the Congress in 2006 permitting the employment of LMFTs in the department and its facilities, placed an onerous and unnecessary requirement on LMFTs to be graduates of COAMFTE-accredited programs. Presently, 95% of LMFTs in California are NOT graduates of COAMFTE-accredited programs; 10 states and D.C. do not even have 1 COAMFTE-accredited MFT program. Presently, LMFTs are not being hired in California by any type of VA facility, even though California has the largest population of vets who need mental health providers. At the very least, CAMFT believes those LMFTs who can demonstrate "equivalent" training to COAMFTE requirements should be eligible for employment at VA facilities. In 2015, Rep. Scott Peters re-introduced H.R. 2639 that would eliminate the requirement that LMFTs employed by the VA be graduates of a COAMFTE-accredited program.
- 52% of the Country's LMFTs are in California which leaves the remaining 48% of the Country's LMFTs divided among the remaining 49 states!

H.R. 2759 that includes LMFTs as Medicare providers to address the shortage of mental health services across the US.

No other state has a professional LMFT organization like CAMFT to represent them. Because California, and only California, is lobbying for LMFTs to be included in Medicare and VA programs, it is an uphill battle for CAMFT. They are lobbying for the Country's LMFTs but only have access to California's Representatives and Senators who are supportive.

Not only did I gain a greater understanding of what CAMFT has been up against, but I gained a tremendous respect for CAMFT's perseverance and strategy to stay the course. I am confident that in time, with mental health being a very hot topic on the Hill, and CAMFT's continuous lobbying of our California representatives/senators, that CAMFT will be successful in joining a bill that will be passed by Congress. After all, that is how clinical psychologists and clinical social workers were successful in achieving inclusiveness in Medicare and the VA many years ago.

In conclusion, if you have never gone to D.C. to visit, please do. It is a vibrant city, with most attractions within walking distance. There is great public transportation and the city is so rich in historical significance. The Cherry blossoms were in full bloom and the few days that we had to explore were not nearly enough, so I do plan to return.

NAMI Walk 2016!!!! - RECAP

*By Bowie Hahn, MFT Intern
Community Liaison Director*

Once again the annual NAMI walk was a huge success. NAMI raised almost $170,000 total and is still accepting donations. While our walk team was small it was mighty in its mission. VCCAMFT, you (our amazing MFT professionals), and our walk team raised and donated $2000 toward that total!!! I want to thank Margot Parker, The Alkazian Family and Janis Tonooka for lacing up your shoes and enjoying the beautiful beach weather with me. A special thanks to Niki Klein who volunteered to help with our resource table. There were over 1300 participants total in the walk that wound its way 2 miles down from the Ventura Pier and beach boardwalk. This is Ventura County NAMI's primary annual fundraiser that supports the amazing mission of this non-profit organization. If you are not familiar with their extensive programs and educational support systems please go on line to namiventura.org. This is my third year participating in the walk and I plan on attending and hosting our walk team for next year's event. Put it on your calendar it is always a special day, see you next year. ☺

MAY MEETING 2016

What Therapists Need to Know About Our Aging Clients

to milestones that bring pleasure. But by the celebration of the 50th birthday, and even being in the 40s for some, thoughts of advancing years may not be so positive. As the image in the mirror, slowed physical agility, forgetfulness, and necessary medical tests (think colonoscopy) raise awareness that the future may not be as rosy as the past, mood can be affected. Health problems, troubling relationships and lack of social support systems can bring on grumpiness and depressive thoughts that can unconsciously affect relationships, productivity and quality of life.

Perceived and expressed problems that clients bring to professionals may not be the full story. They may be unaware that the changes in their lives are influencing their outlooks and interactions with family members, friends and co-workers. Stresses brought on by potentially increasing needs of parents, discordant family relationships, financial issues, health problems, sensory deficits, and more, can bring about anxieties and depression and affect the aging process. Because emotional distress can make people sick, decisions to take emotional and relationship needs to a therapist are important.

Lifestyle choices are important to the aging process and can make a great difference in physical and emotional health. Exercise, nutrition, intellectual stimulation, social interactions, medical care and stress management all influence how we age.

When a person becomes a caregiver for persons with cognitive impairment, the stress element is even more critical. It is imperative that family caregivers learn all they can about the illness and coping skills for behavior management. Caregivers numbered up to 43.5 million in this country last year, and 15.7 million took care of persons with dementia. The average age of caregivers was 49.2. A great number of family caregivers seek therapists who understand the unique challenges and needs of caregiving. There are many community resources to complement the guidance and support gained through meeting with professional therapists. ☺

Legal and Ethical Workshop – Successful

By Denise Butler-Foley, LMFT

On April 22, 2016, VC-CAMFT sponsored a Legal and Ethical Workshop, Using the Language of the Law to “Salt & Pepper” Your Treatment Records by State CAMFT Staff Attorney, David Jensen, J.D. This workshop is designed to meet the licensing requirements for renewal of our licenses every two years by the BBS. State CAMFT “loans” a Staff Attorney to a Chapter to present a 6 hour required course, on an annual basis. State CAMFT’s attorneys are not only well-versed in the legal and ethical issues that govern mental health professionals, but are well aware of our needs based on the many calls they receive daily from CAMFT’s members.

David Jensen, J.D. has created many Legal and Ethical Workshops with a different emphasis because there is so much information clinical mental health professionals are required to know. The Ventura County Chapter rotates David’s presentations so that no two are the same.

The workshop was held at the Spanish Hills Country Club, with breakfast, lunch, snack, and beverages all day. The attendees thoroughly enjoyed David’s presentation. With an enjoyable personality and a great sense of humor, many attendees wrote, “He made what would have been a very dry topic, very interesting, and enjoyable”.

Here are some of the other comments that David received:

“David is absolutely delightful....Awesome, Amazing!....

David makes it fun to learn....Really knows subject-presents with such clarity and appropriate sense of humor....

Always educational....Makes a tough subject enjoyable, interesting and less intimidating...Great sense of humor....Love the use of music to make points....Excellent venue, well organized, managed, on time....I come back every year to hear David....Thank you, Thank you, Thank you.”

The objectives of Using the Language of the Law to “Salt & Pepper” Your Treatment Records included: 1. Explain the “building blocks” of the BBS’s law regarding recordkeeping; 2. Identify mistakes made by colleagues in the area of recordkeeping; 3. State the core subject areas of a treatment record; 4. Compare & contrast recordkeeping requirements of the public and private mental health systems; 5. Identify key legal terms that should “salt & pepper” your records, treatment or otherwise; 6. Describe the “D-A-V-E Way” of keeping records.

Attendees acquired an in-depth understanding as to why there is the need to keep detailed records. More important, Dave discussed and presented several models, including his own, as to how to keep and maintain constructive and professional records. For those who attend one of Dave’s presentations, you soon learn that he is a country music fan and likes to use certain songs with their lyrics to demonstrate his points.

VC-CAMFT wants to thank our attendees for choosing to support your local CAMFT Chapter. The Legal and Ethical Workshops have become very popular and fill up quite fast.

David will be back next year on Friday, April 28, 2017, with “Shh, It’s Confidential: The Legal and Ethical Requirements of Confidentiality”.

Registration and details will be available January 2017. I look forward to seeing you next year!! ☺

The Next Generation of Networking and Connecting Ventura County Therapists

By Bowie Hahn, MFT Intern
Community Liaison Director
www.meetup.com/VCCAMFTconnects/

VCC-CAMFT has moved our professional community into the 21st century of utilizing social media and the ability of technology to connect us, create support, and provide easier ability to find out the professional resources and professional services that exist in our county. Along with our new website <http://vc-camft.org/> this meet up provides more opportunities and greater flexibility than just our monthly scheduled Friday CEU workshops and seminars. The meet up site is a tool open to all mental health providers throughout the county. The events are not hosted by VCCAMFT but we sponsor the site to enable all professionals to connect with each other without having to invest in or be "experts" in social media tools.

As the Community Liaison I can answer any questions or help you understand how to utilize this tool to effectively network, share and access your local professional community. The feedback from the meet ups has been tremendous and highly supportive. My personal experience from attending the varying events has opened up potential referrals, integrated me with others who possess specialty expertise that I did not know existed, and gave me a general supportive, caring and personal experience that has illuminated my role as a mental health professional in Ventura County. Meet ups can be hosted by any licensed professional, clinical practitioner or agency throughout Ventura County and can be of varying natures. The site hosts social events, workshops, networking, case conferences; support and self-care gatherings to provide a broad based professional resources to all of Ventura County.

We are especially excited to work with the pre-license population and expanding the ability for them to interact with license professionals and agencies.

Supervisors!!!! – Please encourage your trainees and interns to join. They will gain a tremendous value and build their skills by attending and speaking with our licensed community. ☺
